ASSURANCE STATEMENTS

- 1) Professionally acceptable standards governing the care, treatment, and use of animals, including appropriate use of anesthetic, analgesic, and tranquilizing drugs, prior to, during, and following actual research, teaching, testing, surgery, or experimentation were followed by this research facility.
- 2) Each principal investigator has considered alternatives to painful procedures.
- 3) This facility is adhering to the standards and regulations under the Act, and it has required that exceptions to the standards and regulations be specified and explained by the principal investigator and approved by the Institutional Animal Care and Use Committee (IACUC). A summary of all the exceptions is attached to this annual report. In addition to identifying the IACUC-approved exceptions, this summary includes a brief explanation of the exceptions, as well as the species and number of animals affected.
- 4) The attending veterinarian for this research facility has appropriate authority to ensure the provision of adequate veterinary care and to oversee the adequacy of other aspects of animal care and use.

Attachment to Annual Report of Research Facility (APHIS Form 7023)

Explanation for animals classified under Item E of APHIS Form 7023:

There were 51 dogs and 48 rabbits noted in the "pain and distress without treatment" category because they were administered a drug, other chemical, or biological agent that caused pain or distress, or interfered with normal functions because of its composition. The objectives of the studies included determination of drug-induced toxicity. In all cases the reason for withholding such agents as tranquilizers, analgesics, or anesthetics was that their use would have confounded the meaningful interpretation of drug-induced toxicity data. Prior to approval of the use of a drug or biological agent in humans, the U.S. Food and Drug Administration (FDA) requires submission of drug-induced toxicity data derived from both rodent and non-rodent mammalian species (Reference: 21 CFR, Part 312, 4-1-95).
